WE ARE A FAMILY OWNED COMPANY

As a mid-sized German family owned company our doing is determined by long-term thinking and sustainability. For several decades we are one of Germany's leading suppliers of laboratory products. Aside from the distribution of supplier brands we develop our own innovative products which are summarized under the name neoLabLine. These products are developed to make the work of our customers easier. Our neoLab product range covers laboratory equipment, laboratory consumables, laboratory supplies of all kinds, life science products, laboratory chemicals and special laboratory products for scientific and industrial research purposes. Beside the huge range of products, we also offer services like third party logistics, eProcurement solutions and laboratory planning.

Values such as responsibility, respect and consideration are just as close to our heart as product innovation and the relentless pursuit of continuous improvement. Flat hierarchies and short decision-making channels help us to decide quickly and adapt to ever changing market situations very dynamically. Ever since the founding of neolab we continue to grow healthy and remain economically independent. Due to this stability we are able to offer long-term stability to both customers and our staff. All this with a clear commitment to the region and Germany.

The relationship with our customers is characterized by mutual trust, based on our well trained staff and sustainable company goals. Whether you are ordering standard or specially manufactured products, our dedicated neoLab employees will be able to advise you on both laboratory projects and individual complex products. Our outstanding Logistics will ensure that ordered goods are ready to use wherever you need them. With our experience of more than 60 years in that industry we are confident to be the best partner for you in any situation.
